PIONEER WASHER.
E. G. BOLTER,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It does its work by a reverse motion in forcing the water through the clothes.

In having a light cover, the steam thus assists materially in cleansing the clothes, and also avoids the inhaling of steam from hot suds.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to all housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

THE COUNTY RIGHTS, now unsold, will be sold at a bargain if applied for soon.

For Reference, enquire at the Mansion House, and of John Wilson.

LETTERS FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 17, 1867.

At four o'clock I started from Olympia down the Sound, on the steamer New World, Captain Winsor. This majestic steamer seems to be perfectly adapted to the grand waters of Puget Sound, where she finds no rival in speed, beauty or convenience. She had on board a large number of passengers, some freight, and several hundred sheep for the Victoria market. Soon after daylight we reached Steilacoom, where we took on more passengers and a lot of cattle. Steilacoom is situated on a nicely sloping hillside, on the northeast side of the Sound, and looks very pretty from the water. The next stopping place was at

PORT BLAKELY,

on the west side, standing at the head of a narrow bay, about a mile in length, forming one of the cosiest little harbors I ever saw, with deep water from shore to shore and extending up to the very head. Here stands one of those giant mills, surrounded by a snug little village occupied by persons employed in and about the mill. This establishment belongs

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 26, 1867.

The Conover Conspiracy---The Tables Turned ---Who the Conspirators Really Are.

During the last few weeks the Democratic press has been constantly teeming with clumsily constructed accounts of a "monstrous Radical conspiracy" to suborn witnesses to impeach acting President Johnson. Holt, Ashley, Butler and others were endeavoring to use Conover, a convicted felon, to manufacture testimony for their purpose The Assistant Attorney General of the United States compiled for the President a lengthy account of the "conspiracy," the materials for which were mostly furnished by Conover. Letters were produced from Holt and Ashley asking for a pardon for Conover, and with these letters this criminal and Johnson's attorney went to work with all their ingenuity to fabricate an extended account of the designs of the "Radicals" against Johnson. These men at Johnson's instigation framed the story which was sent to the country accusing Holt and others of conspiring to obtain false testimony to secure impeachment. This attempt on the part of Johnson to create sympathy for himself soon met with a very damaging exposure. Overwhelming proofs have been produced, showing that the conspiracy was altogether on the other side, and that it was concocted by Johnson and his friends to damage those who were known to favor his impeachment. Conover, an imprisoned convict, who was glad to do anything which would secure his release, was ready to furnish Johnson with any statements that might be wanted. The entire charge against Holt and others was based on the letters they had written recommending Conover to pardon. These letters, supported by the story invented by the perjurer, were published, and the whole was rounded off by the ingenuity of the Assistant Attorney General. But very soon after, it was made public that letters of a precisely similar import had been written to the President by several Democratic members of Congress, and that these letters had been purposely omitted or suppressed in making up the sensational statement. There was the very same reason for accusing these Democratic members that there was for charging the conspiracy upon Holt, Butler and Ashley. A petition for Conover's pardon similar to that endorsed by Holt and Ashley, was also signed by several men well known as prominent Democrats and friends of the acting President. Immediately after Conover's signature, on the same sheet of paper containing his application for pardon, in the handwriting of A. J. Rogers, a Democratic member of the Thirty-Ninth Congress, from New Jersey, the following appears:

MY DEAR PRESIDENT: I have been and still am of the opinion that the perjury in this case was suborned and gotten up by another person, or by other persons, and that Conover was their tool, and to save themselves from public odium they have been instrumental in obtaining his conviction, and as I believe him less guilty than others, or at least than one other, I recommend him for pardon.

A. J. ROGERS.

From reading the minority report of Judiciary Committee with the statement of Hon. A. J. R. goes above, I recommend Chas. R. Dunham to your favorable and full consideration.

WILLIAM RADFORD.

I concur with Mr. Radford.

W. E. NIBLACK,
C. A. ELDRIDGE,
F. C. LE BLOND.

The persons whose names are here given were all Democratic members of the Thirty-Ninth Congress. To show that Johnson was aware of the existence of those recommendations, the following indorsement upon the official envelope containing them will be conclusive:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, March 15, 1867.

Case of Dunham, Chas. R., convicted of perjury Application for pardon recommended by Hons. A J. Rogers, Wm. Radford, W. E. Niblack, and others. Respectfully referred to the Honorable the Attorney General for examination and action.

By order of the President,
ANDREW K. LONG, Sec'y.

These papers are copied from the official documents on file in the Department at Washington and their genuineness is indisputable. In fact, it has never been called in question. Why were they not given to the public with the others? Because it was deemed proper to suppress them for the purpose of giving a plausible appearance to a story which, had it all been told, would not have answered the design which Johnson intended. The reckless criminality of this act has never been exceeded in the history of political intrigues. A baser plot was never originated in the dark mines of conspiracy.

The New York Times, a paper which has always been friendly to Johnson, has the following remarks on this matter:

The effort recently attempted, in the interest of the President, to crush the Radical advocates of impeachment, and divert attention from the crusade he has inaugurated against the promotors of reconstruction, has proved worse than a failure. The ridiculous aspect of the affair became apparent when the garbled nature of the statement prepared by the Assistant Attorney General was brought to light. The point of that statement was that Radical members of Congress were in intimate relations with the convicted perjurer, Conover, whom it was alleged they proposed to use against the President. That was the story sent to the country under the direct sanction of Mr. Johnson. Few, probably, attached credence to unsupported assertions on such a subject from such a source. The dishonesty of the document was realized when it became known that while concocting charges against opponents of the President, other documents on file in the office of the Government, implicating certain of his Democratic friends in the movement to obtain the pardon of Conover, had been passed over. The exposure not only convicted the Attorney General of gross unfairness in the compilation of what purported to be a semi-official statement, but fixed upon Messrs. Rogers, Radford, Niblack, Eldridge, LeBlond and Latham, notable Democrats, the odium originally intended for Messrs. Ashley and Butler.

The matter has not ended here. The motive of Mr. Rogers and his Democratic associates, in seeking the pardon of Conover, was more than suspected to be a desire to strengthen a movement then and still in progress, for obtaining the removal of Judge Holt from his position as Chief of the Bureau of Military Justice. Next to Mr. Stanton, Judge Holt enjoys the distinction of being the man best hated by the enemies of the Union; and Conover was relied on as a witness available for damaging Judge Holt's official character, and justifying the President in taking the Bureau into his own care. That done, certain records involving the loyal standing of prominent Democrats would pass under the control of some one less likely to be troublesome than Judge Holt.

The act of Holt and Ashley in signing Conover's recommendation for Executive clemency admits of strong justificatory reasons. The recommendation was made in July, and it was put on the ground that Conover had rendered important services to the Government by indicating where testimony might be had for the prosecution of Surratt. Their recommendation, as Judge Holt declared, was "based solely on grounds of public policy, and neither contained, nor was intended to contain, any expression of confidence in the general integrity or truthfulness of Conover." But the moment Johnson and his attorney got hold of those papers they set to work with Conover to prepare their statement of the "conspiracy." The request of the prominent Democrats, whose names are given above, for pardon in the case, was suppressed, and an attempt was made to show that the action of Holt and Ashley was part of a great conspiracy against Johnson. The recommendation of Jack Rogers & Co. was made last March; and Johnson saw nothing in the nature of a conspiracy in it. Not until those whom he hated had done a similar thing, did he discover a "plot" against himself. Then he caused his attorney to go to work with a convicted perjurer to stab the reputation of men whom he hated and feared. The infamy of this transaction has never been equalled in America, and no one but the disgraced and fallen being who shames the nation whose highest office he fills, could be capable of such a piece of wickedness.

What was the object of those Democratic politicians in endeavoring to secure Conover's pardon? Conover had agreed to furnish affidavits against Judge Holt, and it was the particular desire of the conspirators to get him out of office. The records of that Bureau would then fall into the hands of some one who could dispose of them so that they might not be used against leading Democrats who are known to be implicated with the rebels. This, coupled with their hatred of Holt, accounts for their share in the transaction. Johnson's object was two-fold, to serve himself and to damage his political opponents. Conover's part in the transaction is explained by his desire to get out of prison. Those were the conspirators, and these their plans and devices.

Senator Williams' Great Speech

The great speech of Senator Williams on reconstruction, delivered in this city on the 23d inst., is now printed and ready for distribution. It is a pamphlet of twenty pages, well printed in large, clear type. Five thousand copies have been published. The speech is an exhaustive review of the subject which it treats. It presents the great facts relating to reconstruction in a manner never surpassed for perspicuity, ability and force. The history of the whole subject is given with a logic that is unanswerable. The speech should be generally circulated throughout the State. No better service can be done for the national cause in Oregon than by distributing this speech widely in every county. Union county Committees should see that it obtains wide circulation. The speech will be furnished in large or small quantities at the rate of three dollars per hundred. Orders may be sent to Hon J. N. Dolph of this city, Chairman of the Union State Central Committee. We earnestly request all who desire the triumph of the cause so nobly upheld by our patriotic Congress to aid in giving this admirable speech an extensive circulation. Every neighborhood should be supplied. We confidently express the opinion that in no way can so much be done for the cause by a limited outlay as by distributing Senator Williams' great speech among the people. Will our friends see that it is done? The Union papers throughout the State are requested to call the attention of their readers to the speech and thus aid in giving it circulation.

A little more than a month ago the "organ" was tearing itself to tatters in denouncing those who resisted the lawless and corrupt practices of its party in this city. Those who questioned the propriety and legality of Rosenheim's election as Marshal were assailed with every epithet in the blackguard's calendar. The refusal of the Recorder to recognize Rosenheim as Marshal was characterized as a "judicial outrage"---as "an open prostitution of his official position to the unlawful uses of perjured partisans." It was declared that if Rosenheim should take the matter into Court, "of course a decision would be made in his favor." Well, he has taken it into Court; what has the "organ" to say of the result? All the bluster we were hearing a while ago was simply an effort to frighten honest people into an acquiescence with the corrupt designs of the partisan majority of the Council. How do you like the result, now it's all over? Those terrible speeches and resolutions in the Council, and those columns on columns of vituperation and dirty blackguardism in the "organ" didn't quite serve the purpose intended, did they? This was not good argument for the Courts, and so the corruptionists lost their case.

In 1864 when Judge Williams elected Senator, he made a strong speech at Salem urging everybody to give their support to the Government in the struggle in which it was then engaged. He said he believed in supporting the Government in that crisis, and by this he "did not mean any particulary theory of Government, but the life and blood Administration of Abraham Lincoln." Even since then the Copperhead papers have been making the ridiculous assertion that Senator Williams said that "Lincoln's flesh and blood was the Government." The Herald editor, who knows nothing of the speech, and who, for that matter, is utterly ignorant of Oregon politics, repeats this ridiculous story. Men who have no argument constantly deal in quibbles, frivolities and falsehoods.

THE NORTHERN PASSES.---The Olympia Tribune says that the party detached to survey the Cowlits or Packwood Pass have returned from the mountains. The result of the survey is most gratifying and satisfactory, the altitude being much lower than was expected, and the grade better than was anticipated. There is no difficulty for either a wagon or railroad but what can be easily surmounted. At a short distance to the northwest of the present trail, a passage was found some five hundred feet lower, from which a grade can be obtained of about sixty-five feet to the mile on the east side, and about forty-five on the west. The party returned through the Nachess Pass.

For Washington.

Our able Senator, George H. Williams, leaves for Washington on the steamer to-day. The kind wishes of the people of Oregon will accompany him, and those who have heretofore taken a pride in the ability and fearlessness which have distinguished his Senatorial career feel confident that the same success and the same honor which he has hitherto met will hereafter attend him. We are informed that it is his expectation to return to Oregon within a year and assist us with his voice in the Presidential election.

The baby champion of the Oregon Democracy, otherwise known as Simple Semple, is the same fellow who upon his admission to practice at the bar, declined to take the oath of allegiance to the Constitution and Government of the United States. The spring of chivalry, hailing from the South, doubtless considered that he owed allegiance to that whilom Democratic military Republic, known as the Confederate States of America.

The census of the State of Iowa shows a population of 898,194,---an increase of more than 145,000.

THE CASE OF SIMON SCHLESINGER.---The Victoria Colonist of the 12th has the following in regard to the forger, Schlesinger: "In the police court, yesterday morning, the case of Charles B. Schlesinger, who is charged with uttering a forged check in the name of Henry Grunbaum, of this city, was called on. Mr. Robert Bishop appeared to watch the case for Grunbaum Bros., and Mr Ring appeared for the defence. The check alleged to have been forged was produced in court, and the signature, when compared with that at the foot of other checks acknowledged by Henry Grunbaum to have been signed by him, showed great dissimilarity, the imitation, in fact, was very clumsy From the evidence of Henry Grunbaum it would appear he always signed the checks of the firm in his own name, and that some days prior to the check being uttered, the accused told him he would be pleased to have his signature in a book so that he might have something to remember him by; Grunbaum complied by writing his name on the blank page of a book belonging to Schlesinger The number of the alleged false check is 63,311, and the corresponding counterfoil has been abstracted from the check book in the possession of the firm, while the numbers of the remaining checks and counterfoils remain undisturbed The book was produced in court. The witness said that upon the very day on which the check was uttered Mr Julius Grunbaum (his brother) returned home from the bank and asked him if he had drawn a check for $30? Witness replied "No." Schlesinger was in the room at the time, and while the brother was asking him about the check at the bank, vanished and witness did not see him afterwards until he was brought back upon a requisition from Washington Territory Witness swore positively that he was not in the habit of signing blank checks, nor had he ever done so, he believed that Schlesinger tore check and counterfoil from the check book while his (witness') attention was directed for a few moments to another department of the establishment. Mr Gilkinson, paying-teller of the Bank of British North America, deposed to cashing the check for the accused, and Julius Grunbaum corroborated the evidence of his brother. Mr. Ring having cross-examined each witness, said that he would offer no evidence for the defence at this stage, and Mr. Pemberton committed the accused for trial before the higher court In default of bail Schlesinger was locked up.
